THANKSGIVING CONTEST
LETTERS POURING IN

By UNCLE GEORGE

The mail is beginning to come in for our Thanksgiving contest. Here is a splendid letter from Edward Feder, Jr., Willow Avenue, Hoboken; another from Morris Zoldtow, 10th Avenue, Brooklyn, who says he has a good chance now in this contest—so have you.

A short letter comes from Henry Anderson, Venetia Park, Howard Beach, L. I. The Bronx is represented by Irving Berger, Minford Place, Rose Rothberg, East 4th Street, sends a letter which I know will please Uncle Robert in his campaign for Parents' Day.

hardt and Potasnak, although the officers themselves vehemently denied using brutal methods, which Capt. Turner himself declared he "never would have countenanced."

Although Turner had said that he was not attempting to defend any other department than his own from charges of brutality, Chief of Police Richard O. Zober was present at the meeting and was obviously taken aback when James Starr, representing Thomas MacMahon, president of the United Textile Workers, seized the opportunity to present the complaints of four strikers, two of them women, against members of the Passaic uniformed force.

Capt. Turner, anxious to prove the good faith of his department, had just promised co-operation in checking reports of police brutality in other municipalities, adding that he felt confident that his own detectives were guiltless. He said:—

"I want the world, the American Federation of Labor and The GRAPHIC to know that the charges against this bureau are untrue.

The GRAPHIC representative appeared voluntarily at the hearing at the request of Capt. Turner, who asked an opportunity to explain the charges against his department.

that his wife had "forgiven all." That is, she had decided to stand by him even though she knew he had been in Lover's Lane in an auto with Miss Catherine Rastall, a choir singer in the slain Dr. Hall's church.

Mrs. Gorsline now is living with her sister, Mrs. Louis Wolfson at 257 Livingston Ave., New Brunswick, while Gorsline is living with his aunt at 237 George St., in the same town.

"The separation is only for the time being," Gorsline said glumly, and refused to say anything more about the matter.

Questioned in Cell

Meanwhile, Senator Simpson was jubilant about the Dickman affidavit.

"The story outranks that of Mrs. Gibson in importance," he declared. On Mrs. Gibson's testimony the Somerset county grand jury indicted Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, Henry and Willie Stevens and Henry de la B. Carpenter for the murders.

Dickman was questioned in his cell by a man known to the state as "Detective X." It was said that this detective went to San Francisco to see Dickman when it was found that the ex-trooper was being held in prison as a deserter from the army. When arrangements for an interview fell through, Senator Simpson succeeded in having Dickman transferred to Governors Island.

Detective's Story New

"Detective X" talked to Dickman from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. yesterday and reduced his testimony to six pages of closely typed material. This was given to Senator Simpson, who locked his copy in a safe, after having a transcript made for Inspector John J. Underwood and another for Chief Patrick Hayes of the Jersey City detectives.

"The whole story is entirely new," said Senator Simpson. "I won't discuss it except to say that it is too sensational to be published in full.

"I will say, however, that Dickman worked nine months on the Hall-Mills case and was the last man to go off the job. He was paid a large sum of money to leave

Democrats Plan Whirlwind
Campaign to Elect Ticket

By JOSEPH L. COHN

With Gov. Smith's fifth gubernatorial campaign now officially under way with Col. Herbert Lehman as chairman of the Smith's Citizens' Committee, speaking tours are being arranged which will cover every section of the state, starting October 11 and continuing until the Saturday night before election.

"Fusing" of Sexes the Way to Human Welfare

Dr. Winifred Stoner, speaking at the luncheon of the Women's Arts and Industries at the Hotel Astor, said she feared a war of the sexes. Only by "fusing," she thought, could real peace and welfare be secured.

Man is superior to woman mentally, physically and economically. Women is his superior spiritually, esthetically and morally," in her view.

the state. We have corroborative detail which is being checked up now so that his statement on the matter does not stand alone."

"Did he introduce any new names?" the senator was asked.

"He named the person or persons concerned in the payment of a large sum of money. It was in cash. He gave new names, but did not name any new defendants. He gave us valuable information and new evidence which he had."

"Who paid Dickman?" was the next question.

"I won't answer that," the senator answered abruptly.

May Change Plans

The Dickman affidavit may change the plans for an application tomorrow to the Court of Oyer and Terminer in regard to a severance so that the defendants may be tried separately. Senator Simpson had intended to make this application and expected it to be opposed by the defense, headed by Robert H. McCarter, who demanded to see the card which allegedly bore the fingerprints of Willie Stevens when it was found on the scene of the crime.

Among developments in the case was the discovery of a young woman who said she was in DeRusseys Lane on the night of the murders with a young man who later married her. The girl said she saw a woman cut Mrs. Mills's throat. The couple are supposed to live in Wantagh, L. I., having moved there from New Brunswick.

Removed Rector's Papers

Another development was the story told by Mrs. Millie Opie, a neighbor of the late Mrs. Mills, who contradicted the story told by Mrs. Minna Clarke. Mrs. Clarke, according to the state, went with Ralph Gorsline on spying expeditions when Rev. Hall went out with Mrs. Mills. She previously had said that none of the slain minister's private papers was taken from his study after he was killed.

Mrs. Opie, however, told state police that on September 16, 1922, the day the bodies were discovered, she saw Mrs. Clarke with Edwin Carpenter. Mrs. Opie asserted that Carpenter has been to the study of the Rev. Hall and that he had several boxes containing correspondence which she recognized as belonging to the slain pastor.

PETER DORO MUST DIE
FOR SLAYING WOMAN

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 1.—The Court of Errors and Appeals upholds the decision of the Essex County Court of Oyer and Terminer, which convicted Peter Doro, alias Bruno, of murder and sentenced him to die for the murder of Mrs. Anna Abramowitz, in Newark, in November, 1925.

He cut her throat with a razor during a quarrel.

100,000 Families
Moving Today

One of the biggest moving days in the history of New York city was in progress today, with 100,000 families, it was estimated, transporting their goods and chattels to new habitations.

Vanmen are getting a minimum of $12 an hour, and in some cases people needing to get their moving done quickly were paying $15 and $18 an hour overtime. The estimate of the number of families relocating was made from reports of gas companies and telephone companies getting requests to shut off and relocate service and from moving men. Rentals are reported lower in the higher-priced apartments.

POLICE REPORTER TO WED
PRETTY CABARET DANCER

A newspaper romance at the Swanee Club, 253 West 125th St., was revealed today with the announcement that Miss Helen Thayer, 21, of 1213 St. Nicholas Ave., feature dancer at the club, is engaged to Henry Schnaue, police reporter covering the Harlem district.

Two months ago Schnaue went to the club on an assignment. While there he saw Miss Thayer dance the "black bottom" in the revue. The couple were introduced.

Then followed a whirlwind courtship. Miss Thayer said the wedding date would be announced shortly.

A reception to the betrothed couple will be held Thursday evening at 11 o'clock, when the entertainment will be broadcast over the radio.

Pilsudski Becomes
Premier of Poland

WARSAW, Oct. 1 (By U. P.).—Marshal Josef Pilsudski, who led a successful revolution last May, today accepted the task of forming a cabinet to succeed the resigned cabinet of Premier Bartel.

President Moscicki offered the premiership to Pilsudski today. Bartel resigned yesterday after the diet, by a vote of 206 to 94, had indorsed the senate's action in reducing the total of the government's budget.
